New direct services for North West rail passengers from May

Rail passengers across the North West will benefit from better connections and quicker journey times from May.

London Northwestern Railway is introducing a new timetable from 19 May, with new direct services to more destinations and additional carriages on some London-bound services from Crewe. The changes will benefit passengers travelling for both work and leisure – including those using rail services during evenings and weekends.

The train operator will be introducing a direct service from Liverpool Lime Street to London Euston, via Birmingham New Street – offering an affordable direct service to/from the capital, and improved connections to and from both Liverpool John Lennon Airport and Birmingham Airport.

On services between Crewe and London Euston, some trains will soon have eight carriages, rather than four. The improvement comes as services will begin operating directly between Crewe and Stafford – shortening journey times between London and the North West. There will also be later evening services on the route on weekdays, with a new 2153 departure from Crewe. On Sundays, journey times will also be reduced, with trains from Crewe no longer travelling via Northampton.

Richard Brooks, customer experience director for London Northwestern Railway, said: “The timetable improvements being introduced in May will bring a range of benefits to passengers, with more direct services to destinations across our network and improved capacity on some of our busiest services.

“However, this isn’t the whole story. We will also have a further timetable change in two years time, where passengers will see further benefits from the introduction of new trains onto the network, which when fully operational, will increase capacity by 25%.”

The new timetable will operate from Sunday 19 May. There will be changes to the time and formation of some services, so passengers are advised to check their train times and to plan ahead for the changes. The new timetable is now live on journey planning systems and can be found at www.londonnorthwesternrailway.co.uk
